

FISHER BEATS FAST PURITYS

Game Proves Excellent, in Spite of the Wind and Sand Storm.

Second Game is Good.

Paul Fisher and "Red" Brennan met in one of the best pitching duels that have been witnessed in a long time in the second game of the afternoon, when the Everybodies defeated the Puritys. Paul struck out a grand total of 14 men, and allowed but six hits against seven men retired by the strikeout route and eight hits off Brennan. It was originally intended to play but five innings, due to the wind, but as the game slowed down considerably, it was decided to continue the affair, both managers, Simms of the Puritys, and "Red" Livingston of the Everybodies expressing a desire to continue the game. The contest was won in the fifth inning by the Everybodies when Lyman and Lawrence scored on Ted Brann's long hit against the left field fence.

"Red" Brennan made the only score for his team, this coming in the third inning after he had lined out a clean single. Buchanan, one time of the 20th century, struck out, while Coleman got a long hit against the score board, Brennan racing home, with the only run.

Fisher Tightens Up.

Fisher tightened after that, and the Puritys were unable to do anything with his fast ball, although several attempts were made in an effort to tie up the register during the latter innings of the game. Both teams put up a pretty game in the field although the high wind made perfect judging of flies impossible. The contest was replete with splendid pitching throughout, and it is probable that the contests would have been a scoreless tie at the end of that seventh inning had the game been played under ordinary conditions. The crowd appeared well satisfied, however, despite the announcement that the game would not count in the official percentages. The score:

Diseases That Show In Your Face?

It matters not how little confidence we may have in our ability as mind readers, all of us by life-long practice are face-readers. A considerable part of our attitude toward our fellows is determined by what we see in their faces. Most of us have become surprisingly accurate face-readers in regard to moral and emotional tendencies. And we also indicate either internal or external disease. The tense, drawn features indicating continued pain from some internal ailment, or the breaking out of one of the many skin diseases, which speak only too plainly for themselves, because most, if not all skin diseases show on the face sooner or later. Impure, impoverished or impaired blood are the prime causes of disease. There-

DUNCAN WHIFFS 15 MEN IN GAME

while Ostrander played both first and short.

Duncan in Fine Form.

Clarence Duncan pitched a great game, conditions considered, for the soldiers. He struck out 15 men. Panning Wright for the third out in the fourth inning, he moved down the three men who faced him in the fifth, the second time he performed that feat, by the way. Then, in the sixth, he fanned Martin and Maresch. French put himself into the game at that stage and Duncan had two strikes on him before the big manager hit one at Reardon. The latter booted the ball and French got life. This seemed to rattle Duncan and he walked the next two men and Wright's single scored two runs. Duncan got a grip on himself and faced Brish for the third time. Whether French will succeed as manager of the Feldmans is a problem. He is certainly making drastic changes, but his methods will hardly result in the players giving him their best efforts.
